Our Journey.

Titan's origins trace back to 1960, when the family began exporting marble from the Greek island of Tinos. Over time, the business expanded its quarry operations, notably acquiring a 50% stake in a Naxos marble quarry in 2018, producing premium calcium carbonate marble. Recognizing market opportunities, the company ventured into marble chip exports to North Africa and Sweden, with applications in construction, paper manufacturing, and pharmaceuticals. In 2022, Titan began managing a fleet of general cargo and bulk carrier vessels ranging from 8,000 to 75,000 DWT. Building on the success of its chartering operations, the company made a strategic decision to expand into grain & salt trading as well as its salt production.
